1 Introduction

Our schools are committed to protecting the rights of all individuals in relation to the processing of their personal data.

2 Scope of this policy

This policy has been developed to ensure all staff, contractors and partners understand their obligations when processing personal and special category data to comply with the Data Protection Act 2018, The General Data Protection Regulation 2016 and UK General Data Protection Regulations 2021 as amended from time to time.

This policy and the legislation apply to all personal data, both that held in paper files and electronically. So long as the processing of the data is carried out for school purposes, it applies regardless of where data is held.

'Processing' data is widely defined and includes obtaining, recording, keeping, or using it in any way; sharing or disclosing it; erasing and destroying it.

3 Data protection principles

Personal and special category data must be:

- used fairly, lawfully and transparently
- used for specified, explicit purposes
- used in a way that is adequate, relevant and limited to only what is necessary
- accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date
- kept for no longer than is necessary
- handled in a way that ensures appropriate security, including protection against unlawful or unauthorised processing, access, loss, destruction or damage.

4 Responsibilities of staff and contractors.

Staff and contractors must:

- Complete the Data Protection training as soon as they join either school. This is a mandatory requirement.
- Complete an annual refresher course as directed by their manager
- Ensure that they only ever process personal data in accordance with requirements of the relevant legislation.
- Follow the 6 Principles highlighted above and seek help if needed.

5 Data security

Keeping personal data properly secure is vital to comply with the Data Protection Act. All staff and contractors are responsible for ensuring that any personal data we have access to is kept securely.

Issue Date: April 2024	Review Date: April 2026	Revision Date: April 2026

We are also responsible for ensuring that personal data is not disclosed inappropriately (either orally or in writing) whether intentionally or accidentally, to any unauthorised recipient or third party.

This includes, as a minimum:

- We should always keep passwords safe and never share them
- Lock away any personal data kept in paper format in a lockable cabinet or pedestal. Do not leave documents on desks unattended at any time
- If it is necessary to take hard copy documents out of the schools make sure that those documents are always looked after, this includes notebooks and files. Consider whether it is necessary to take files out of the schools at all or if so, take them on an encrypted laptop.

6 Sending personal data securely

We can send documents containing personal data securely using the following methods:

Requested by:	Method:
Hard copy	Documents should be hand delivered to the data subject wherever possible. Make sure that the documents are securely contained in a sealed envelope and signed for. If it not possible for the data subject to collect the documents themselves use the special delivery service. Note: Check you have the correct address before posting
Email	This is the preferred method. Scan a copy of the file and move it to a secure location on the school networks. Send the file by secure data transfer [currently Egress]. Ask the data subject to confirm receipt of the documents as soon as possible

7 Data subject rights

Data subjects have defined rights over the use of their data. These rights have been reinforced and extended by the UK GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018.

These rights are:

- right to be informed
- right of access
- right to rectification
- right to erasure
- right to restrict processing
- right to data portability
- right to object
- rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling.

Issue Date: April 2024	Review Date: April 2026	Revision Date: April 2026

The above rights are conditional depending on the reason we hold the data and why we may need to retain it.

Where we have a legal obligation to collect and process data or we are collecting the data to carry out a public task, we cannot always agree with any objection to the processing of data. We will consider all requests and explain the reason for the decision in writing.

Similarly, if an individual claims that there is an error in the recording of a child protection meeting or a behavioral incident, it is unlikely that these records will be amended because it is likely that the records contain the professional opinion of a social worker or other professional. Whilst the schools would be unable to amend the original, we should place the individual's objections on file next to the original record so that their objections can be noted.

Where we rely on consent to process data about an individual, we will be obliged in most cases to apply the above rights.

8 Prohibited activities

The following activities are strictly prohibited when processing personal and special category data:

- Sharing passwords to access data
- Sending personal data to a personal email address to work on at home
- Sending data to unauthorised personnel. Always check that the recipients are authorised to view the information being sent. This includes those employed by the schools who do not have authority to see that data.
- Sending personal data in an insecure format
- Leaving personal data unprotected
- Accessing information about a pupil, their family or a member of staff where there is no legitimate reason for doing so
- Accessing personal data about an individual for personal use
- Disclosing personal data to a recipient or third party outside of the schools without a lawful basis

Implications of breaching this policy

It is a condition of employment in the case of staff and contractors that they abide by the law and the policies of the schools. Any breach of this policy could be considered to be a disciplinary offence and may lead to disciplinary action. A serious breach of the Data Protection Act may also result in the schools and/or the individual being held liable in law.

9 Privacy by Design

Under the Data Protection Act 2018 the schools have a general obligation to implement technical and organisational measures to show that we have considered and integrated data protection into our processing activities. To achieve this, staff are expected to complete Privacy Impact Assessments to help identify and minimise any data protection risks, prior to any new processing.

Privacy impact assessments (PIA)

The schools must do a PIA for any processing that is likely to result in a high risk to individuals' interests. It is good practice to do a PIA for any major project which requires the processing of personal data.

Your PIA must:

- describe the nature, scope, context and purposes of the processing;
- assess necessity, proportionality and compliance measures;
- identify and assess risks to individuals; and
- identify any additional measures to mitigate those risks.

To assess the level of risk, you must consider both the likelihood and the severity of any impact individuals. High risk could result from either a high probability of some harm, or a lower possibility of serious harm.

You should consult your Data Protection Officer who will need to approve the processing. You may need the assistance of any processors to explain how and where they process the data.

10 International transfers

Restricted transfers from the UK to other countries, including to the EEA, are now subject to transfer rules under the UK GDPR regime.

There are provisions which permit the transfer of personal data from UK to the EEA and to any countries which are now known as 'adequacy regulations'. There are also provisions which allow the continued use of any EU Standard Contractual Clauses ('SCCs'), both for existing restricted transfers and for new restricted transfers. A Transfer Impact Assessment is now available and is required to be completed if there is a transfer outside of the UK.

Conclusion

Compliance with the Data Protection Act 2018 is the responsibility of all members of staff and contractors. Any questions about this policy or any queries concerning data protection matters should be raised with the Head Teacher.
